

GEORGIA GOSSIP.

SHORT TALKS WITH THE SCRIBES OF THE COUNTRY PRESS.

Points of Confederate Soldiers in Tombolboro.—A curiosity in the way of money making. The version of the Thirtieth Georgia—A Bad Accident in Berrien County.

A bridge is being built over the Satilla river at Waterford.

Rev. J. R. Battle, who has been traveling through Thomas and Brooks, reports coming as being in excellent condition.

As soon as the case of Sam Williams, held for the murder of Pullman Agent, in Lowndes county, is ready for trial, Judge Hance will order a special term of court.

While Mr. J. A. Wicker, one of the mechanics employed on the Baptist church edifice, in Newnan, was removing some rubbish from the interior of the building last Friday afternoon, he noticed a small puncture of the flesh in the palm of his left hand. Thinking that a splinter had caused it, he examined the place with the point of a knife blade, but found nothing. In a few minutes the hand began to burn, and in a short time he was compelled to quit work, and by night the suffering became so intense that it was feared he would be thrown into spasms. Dr. Davis and Smith administered morphine freely to kill two or three men under ordinary circumstances before the patient could be relieved. Very soon after the first symptoms the hand and forearm began to swell considerably, and are still very much inflamed. The physicians cannot say positively as to the cause, but seem to think that a scorpion's sting did it, although it is not known if any scorpions have been recently seen in the neighborhood. It is also thought by some to be an acute attack of erysipelas. He lies in a dangerous condition.

There are industrious, worthy colored men in Cobb county, says the Marietta Journal, who, by good deportment and disposition to accumulate property, deserve mention. Among them is Henry Barnes. He bought of Mr. Dick Sears an acre and a half, 2 1/2 miles southeast of Marietta, for $500. He paid $200 down and gave his note for $300 at 10 per cent interest. In four years' time he had it paid for and the deed in his pocket; the farm costing him $230. Besides this he kept all of his other expenses paid. During the latter part of last year he experienced a loss of fire of splendid barn containing corn, fodder, peas, a fine cow, chickens and a wagon, which some fine colored person saw fit to put the incendiary torch to. But Henry has the pluck, sticks to his business, lets other people's business alone, and is prospering. He stands far ahead of his neighbors, and can get credit whenever he wants it. This year he has expended on strawberries and off of a small garden patch sold enough to realize $25.00, which is a nice cash surplus for him at this season of the year.

Companies E and L of the third Georgia veterans will have a picnic in Tombolboro on the fourth of July. They will be accompanied by the county of Wilkinson and the surrounding counties are invited to attend. The picnic will be held on the banks of the river, and the citizens at large are invited to assist in making the entertainment a success, to which all are invited. The picnic will be held on the banks of the river, and the citizens at large are invited to assist in making the entertainment a success, to which all are invited.

Mr. Charles Green, of Gordon, eloped with Miss Anna Wright, and made matters secure through the kindly offices of Judge Hance.

In Suwanee county, on Sunday, Mrs. Loretta Mims, sister of Colonel A. S. Cutts, died aged 68. Rev. Washington Sharp, formerly owner of the ground upon which Andersonville is located, died on Monday night. Mrs. J. W. Jordan, of Smithville, died on Tuesday. All were people of local note.

Rockdale county seems to be well pleased with the stock law, after trying it for two or three years. Whoooping cough is prevailing extensively in the lower part of Twiggs, and in many cases proving fatal among the colored children.

The Monroe Advertiser states that Mr. F. N. Bridges paid guilty to eight indictments for selling liquor and was fined $50 in each case.

Mr. J. T. Evans in the eastern portion of Clayton county, has been twelve days in the woods to get lost. One day last week, in the following manner: His son was hunting wood to town, and had two dogs with him, and they started up a rabbit, and ran it under a brush pile. The son, after several unsuccessful attempts to drive the rabbit out, set fire to the brush pile, the consequence of which was, that ten or twelve cords of wood and twenty-five or thirty pounds of fence, were destroyed by the flames. Such is life—Jonathan News.

Mr. A. C. Smith, of East Point, was in to see us last Saturday and made several inquiries in regard to the reunion of the Georgia regiment. He also made several suggestions as to how it should be conducted. While on the subject, we will state that it has been suggested that the reunion which Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Ella Callahan presented to the regiment, at this place, be sought and returned to her. Let the members, through out the country, all interested in this matter.

Lumpkin Independent.—One of our popular young merchants, who is a fine nature, and is not only a good and sensible business man, but a decided aesthete. His little colored hostler has a penchant for the modern, and while he is playing the other would leave the most tempting hay or other good food and go and stand with her head close down to the hay, and show the signs of great pleasure in the musical sounds.

Valdosta Times.—News of one of the saddest accidents which we have been called upon to chronicle, comes to us from Berrien county, about twenty miles above Valdosta. It is a sad chapter in the history of the evil pastime of carrying pistols. Mr. David Mathis, a young man with a family, had living with him a lad of a brother who was the proprietor of a pistol. The boy had the deadly weapon out and had just loaded it, when a little four year old child, son of Mr. David Mathis, came in, and innocent of the danger, reached out for the pistol. The boy, however, did not take it into his hands, and in an instant the deadly instrument fell to the floor and fired off, shooting the child through the body. The little victim soon died from the wound.

POLITICS IN GEORGIA.

Union county sends W. E. Candler and W. W. Erwin to the June convention, heart and soul for Tilden.

Terrill county elects delegates to-day.

Professor Callahan, a school teacher, announces himself as an independent candidate for congress from the seventh district.

Mr. L. T. Black, Dr. J. S. Bennett, J. G. Pacey and Mr. T. Glover are the delegates selected for Fayette county to attend the state convention. In Wilcox county the Hon. R. D. Fuller and Hon. D. Johnson were appointed delegates, and Hon. T. T. Faltrecht and J. C. Bowen, alternates. The meeting recommended W. T. M. Arthur and H. P. Cook, as delegates from the district to the Chicago convention, and the Hon. C. C. Kibbe as one of the delegates from the state at large.

S. F. Edwards and Mercer were appointed delegates to the convention in Atlanta, from Haralson.

ELECTRICITY.

Two Children Here Have a Wonderful Power.

From the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette.

Since the discovery of the wonderful electrical powers of Miss Lulu Hurst, the original Georgia electro-magnetic girl, the most wonderfully endowed creature has become as plentiful as weeds in a corn-field. Miss Mattie Lee Price at Harris's museum, in the second of the many who have been before the public, but strange to say, though calling herself an electrical phenomenon, there is no evidence of any electric power (at least so the physicians say). Nothing odd about it, however, the excitement occasioned by her seem-

GEORGIA BY WIRE.

THE NEWS OF THE STATE BRIEFLY CHRONICLED.

A Concert in Dawson.—Death of Mrs. J. R. Noble at Reassee. The Success which Followed the Work of an Enterprising Citizen of Waynesboro-Topics from Athens, Etc.

DAWSON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—The young folks of our town give a concert and dramatic entertainment to-night for the purpose of procuring funds with which to purchase a piano to put in the town hall.

EVAN WRIGHT INDICTED.—COLUMBUS, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—To-day the grand jury found a bill against Evan Wright, the man who attempted to assassinate Governor Smith a few days since, charging him with assault with intent to murder. Wright is out on a $500 bond made by his mother, and it is thought that he has left for parts unknown.

TOPICS FROM ATHENS.—ATHENS, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—Jackson county wants a negro to order a reward for Charles Wise, a negro murderer. The reward will close on July 1st. All other factories around Athens are reducing wages. The council resolved to reconsider the action about keeping up the work.

Knocked on the Head.—COLUMBUS, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—Bill Jones, colored, was knocked on the head on Rose hill last night about 10 o'clock by unknown parties. He remained unconscious for several hours. He came to the city this morning, and is now in the hospital. The wound is a frightful one, but is not dangerous.

A Conyers Walking Match.—CONYERS, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—In the four hour 200-yards race walking match, which closed at 10 o'clock, John Broadnax was the winner. The result was as follows: John Broadnax, 28 miles and 1 lap. Ed Simpson, 27 miles and 1 lap. Gus Gunn, 25 miles and 5 laps. Charles Hudson, 17 miles and 1 lap. The track was 17 laps to the mile and very rough.

Death of Mrs. J. R. Noble.—REASSEE, June 6.—[Special.]—The friends and acquaintances have been greatly shocked by the untimely taking off of Mrs. J. R. Noble, consort of Mr. J. R. Noble, who breathed her last on Sunday. This noble lady was a consistent member of the Baptist church and met death with a tremor, and in the full and triumphant assurance of a blessed hereafter sank gently to rest upon the bosom of her Savior. May God be the savior and support of the stricken husband and the children who are motherless. A friend. M. E. C.

Two Dead Bodies.—COLUMBUS, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—A negro child was found smothered to death between two matresses on Wm. Jones's place, a few miles from the city to-day. It is supposed that the nurse, a small negro girl, killed it to get rid of nursing it. A girl baby full of clothes, and in the Chattahoochee river near the wharf this afternoon. An inquest was held and the jury returned a verdict of death from unknown causes. Dr. Jenkins thought the body had been in the water three weeks and was thrown in immediately after birth. Probably the work of an inhuman mother.

An Incendiary Fire in Montezuma.—MONTZUMA, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—The planters' warehouse at this place was burned at 10 o'clock this morning. All the cotton was safely removed. The original cost of the building was $10,000. The value was only ten thousand dollars when it burned. J. D. Coley's bar and lard store and grocery were also burned. An upper story of the building was used as a lodge room by the Masons. Knights of Honor, and the fire was first seen in the upper story. The loss of these orders is $10,000. No insurance on building, goods or furniture. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. The depot of the Central railroad was with difficulty saved.

GENTLEMAN "RUBE."—Enjoying the Hospitality of the Augusta Jail.

Augusta, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—Captain Foute arrived in Augusta this afternoon from New York via Savannah with Gentleman Rube Minor, the third party of the Augusta bank robbery. Captain Foute goes to Atlanta to-night after lodging Minor in jail with "Johnnie Price" alias Simmons, and "Billy Coleman" alias Watson. Minor is not allowed to see his wife yet, and certain means will be taken to identify him if possible by his partners and by bank officials who conversed with him on the morning of the robbery. His appearance corresponds with the description and looks considerably like Simmons, who claims to have been with Minor in the prison. A dogged silence and indifference and evidently believes he will escape identification. Gentleman Rube, as he is called, looks like a Jew, but not as much as a dude. Much interest is exhibited and the bank officials are anxious to get after an attractive sneak in February, will be called in to identify him.

WAYNESBORO'S PROGRESS.

The Success Which Followed the Work of an Enterprising Citizen.

WAYNESBORO, June 6.—The long expected artesian well is still a failure, so far as a pure well of flowing water is concerned. The water which was pumped again to-day was, at first 60 feet of eight inch piping was driven and then it was thought inexpedient to drive any more and now piping six inches in diameter is now being put down inside of the first casing. Yesterday evening after getting down to the bottom with the new casing this new string of piping all at once stopped and settled down. The water in the new casing is down now 61 feet and still dropping. The water in the old casing is now 61 feet and still dropping. The water in the old casing is now 61 feet and still dropping. The water in the old casing is now 61 feet and still dropping.

A Riotous Demonstration.

Last Thursday night John Campbell, Frank Bowen and L. R. Long, all of Austell, came over to Mr. John James's still house, in the edge of Douglas, and an altercation occurred between Campbell and Bowen. Campbell struck at Bowen with a billet of wood, but the blow was warded off by Long. Bowen left the other parties went back to town. What followed is not known. Campbell was armed with a double-barreled shotgun and went up in town. He and Long, or Campbell, shot at Bowen and leveled his gun at him. Bowen threatened to shoot him. Mr. Moseley got between the parties and succeeded in getting Bowen to point his gun through his store and succeeded in getting him pacified. Campbell left immediately for Powder Springs, where he went before the magistrate of the district and swore out a warrant for Bowen's arrest, charging him with assault with intent to murder. The warrant was placed in Bailiff Edgeworth's hands, who wrote to Austell and arrested Bowen, and carried him before the magistrate for preliminary hearing.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

From the Canilla, Georgia, Clarion.

Last fall three churches (Baptist) united in calling a pastoral conference. The pastor of the church promising to pay acceptance of the call and numerical strength, a specified portion of the salary. In the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2.50, which amount was lacking because of one or two absent brothers and hence considered "in sight." A week later the third of the joint contracting churches, in the strongest church, the call was renewed and the financial committee reported the amount promised all paid except $7.50, which amount was said to be "in sight." In the second in strength, a week later, the conference renewed the call for another six months, and the financial committee reported the amount promised paid into the treasury, less $2

5

—IT
and sart-
said
fol-

hall
s it occ-be ors, atic-
trial
th
ors,
ut,
ver
to
is rs,
af
rs
nt
g
of

